

You'll need a computer with Internet connection, email, browser, and word processing program to complete an online course.

Online courses require extensive interactive computer correspondence with the instructor and other students and make use of textbooks, supplemental readings, CD-ROMs, and the Internet. Specialized software is needed for a few courses and some instructors schedule on-campus meetings and testing sessions. A description of the course requirements and a demonstration on the Blackboard course delivery system can be found at <http://bb.mwcc.edu>. Use "demo" as your user name and password. The course profiles can be found in the course information section.

Computer Requirements

Online courses require that your computer meet the following minimal technical specifications to operate the Blackboard delivery system:

- Platform: Windows 98 or Mac OS X
- Hardware: 64 MB of RAM, 1 G of free disk space
- Software: Word processing program, preferably Microsoft Word, and Adobe Acrobat Reader
- Browser: Internet Explorer 5.5 or Netscape 6.2
 - JavaScript & cookies must be enabled
- Modem: 56 K

An email account is required and is provided by the college.

Courses requiring specific software may have different computer hardware requirements than what is listed here. Please check with the software manufacturer for specific requirements before installing the program on your computer.

Special schedule and LEM fee apply.

Self-directed Modular Courses

Important: You have up to two consecutive semesters to complete these courses.

Consider self-directed modular courses if you wish to learn at your own pace from the convenience of your own home. You will use a variety of instructional tools and materials, possibly including computer software, audio/videotapes, textbooks, phone and email. Test arrangements are made directly with the instructor.

For more information, contact the Division of Lifelong Learning & Workforce Development (978) 630-9124, or contact the instructors:
